

Goblin Dog – Knowledge(Nature) DC11

- Goblin dogs are loathed by men and beasts alike. Ugly, stinking, craven, and foul-tempered, only the lowest creatures bother with the rat-faced canines. It's no surprise that goblins find kindred spirits in the shunned, disgusting beasts. Constantly itching, afflicted with a species-wide case of mange exacerbated by prolific dander, even the healthiest goblin dogs look sickly and starved.
 - Type: Medium Animal
 - Weapons: 1 Bite Attack
 - Special Qualities: Low-Light, Darkvision 60 ft, Scent
 - Special Attacks: Allergic Reaction
- Allergic Reaction(Ex): Goblin dogs constantly shed copious amounts of dander to which all creatures (except for goblins) are violently allergic. Any non-goblinoid creature that is damaged by a goblin dog's bite attack, deals damage with a natural weapon or unarmed attack, or attempts to grapple, ride, or otherwise come into close contact with the creature, must make a Average to Tough Fortitude save or break out in an itching rash. Any creature affected by this rash takes a -2 penalty to Dexterity and Charisma for 1 day (multiple allergic reactions do not stack). The spell remove disease or any magical healing removes the rash instantly.
